Facts: PLAINTIFF DARUS LEON HUNTER attended the UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA from January of 2009 until December of 2012 as an undergraduate student pursuing a bachelor's degree. In December of 2012, DARUS LEON HUNTER graduated from said university and was conferred a bachelor's degree, with a minor in Anthropology and a major in Biology. During Mr. Hunter's undergraduate career, in June of 2012 he complained to Dr. Amy Gutman, the university president, about loans and grants that he believed were not being deposited into his student account. Following Mr. Hunter's complaint, student financial services personnel were ordered to meet with Mr. Hunter in June of 2012. At the meeting, student financial services employee SHARON PEPE, informed Mr. Hunter that Penn was cancelling his most recently acquired federal student loan because, it had been discovered that he had exceeded the US student aid undergraduate loan aggregate and in lieu of private funds, would not be able to continue attending the university and completing his undergraduate degree (See Exhibit A). Student loans are processed by the assigned student financial services representative. Approximate (2) weeks after said meeting. Financial aid representatives informed Mr. Hunter that the university was issuing a loan, which would cover the expenses for (1) semester, in order for Mr. Hunter to complete his degree. Mr. Hunter and his financial aid representative, Dennis Drumm, discussed extensively, Mr. Hunter's plan to complete a double major. Mr. Hunter was informed that he would not be able to complete the planned double major. Mr. Hunter completed the semester and was awarded a bachelor's degree. Mr. Hunter filed a lawsuit during his last semester, eventually realizing that the federal department of aid rules regarding the time by which funds must be deposited into a student's account were continually violated. Mr. Hunter attended graduate school at Chestnut Hill College, last in December of 2016. In June of 2017, Mary Ellen Tepper of the University of Pennsylvania collections, informed Mr. Hunter that, the University had sent bills to the wrong address of 5263 W Jefferson street for (6) months. She stated that there was no return information reported by the US postal service (See Exhibit B). She also informed Mr. Hunter that although he received alumni mail and newspapers from the University (See exhibit C) the loan department did not have his updated address. Ms. Tepper then demanded (6) payments of $187.23 in addition to interest, all at once. On September 21st 2017, the University, via Ms. Tepper, agreed to accept $23 dollars a month from Mr. Hunter (See exhibit C). In both October and November of 2017, the University received payments of $23, as agreed by the parties, yet the University has continued to report that there is a payment amount of $187.23, due each month (See exhibit D). Mr. Hunter has requested that the University cease reporting to Transunion that the loan payment is (120) days late; they have refused. On September 14th 2017, the University obtained a copy of Mr. Hunter's credit report. Mr. Hunter did not authorize this action. The University reports to Equifax that the loan account was opened May 31st 2015 (See exhibit D). Mr. Hunter has not had loans issued to him by the University since 2012.

Please see attached document for remainder of the complaint.
